For extenuating circumstances, the Office of Academic Affairs may permit a new course to be added to the schedule and the catalog for one semester. This form should be used when there is insufficient time to use the normal approval channels and with appropriate justification.

Please note: The course will be available for scheduling for one semester only. To permanently add the course to the catalog, the department must submit the Add New Course form via the normal Courses and Curriculum Approval Process.

Effective Fall 2019
The following checklist was developed to outline university requirements and recommendations for course syllabi. All UNO teaching faculty are required to distribute a course syllabus to their students on the first class meeting day as well as post the syllabus in Moodle and make each course site available to students (email moodle@uno.edu for assistance). The syllabus must contain, at minimum, all elements found under “Requirements” below. Please revise syllabi accordingly.

The information contained in the course syllabus, other than the grading criteria and absence/make-up policies, may be subject to change with reasonable advance notice as long as the change is without prejudice to the students. Instructors are welcome to customize syllabi to suit their courses and professional style.

Requirements
- Course title and number
- Day, time, and place of class meetings
- Instructor name
- Instructor office location and office hours
- Instructor phone number and email address
- Student learning outcomes
- Attendance policy
- Required/recommended textbooks/learning resources, including ISBN #
- Course prerequisites (if applicable)
- Tentative due dates for assignments, projects, tests, final exam
- Criteria for grading and grading standards

* Academic integrity is fundamental to the process of learning and evaluating academic performance. Academic dishonesty will not be tolerated. Academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, the following: cheating, plagiarism, tampering with academic records and examinations, falsifying identity, and being an accessory to acts of academic dishonesty. Refer to the Student Code of Conduct for further information. The Code is available online at http://www.studentaffairs.uno.edu.

 It is University policy to provide, on a flexible and individualized basis, reasonable accommodations to students who have disabilities that may affect their ability to participate in course activities or to meet course requirements. Students with disabilities should contact the Office of Disability Services as well as their instructors to discuss their individual needs for accommodations. For more information, please go to http://www.ods.uno.edu.

 To ensure academic integrity, all students enrolled in distance learning courses at the University of New Orleans may be required to participate in additional student identification procedures. At the discretion of the faculty member teaching the course, these measures may include on-campus proctored examinations, off-site or online proctored examinations, or other reasonable measures to ensure student identity. Authentication measures for this course are identified below and any fees associated are the responsibility of the student.

[Insert information regarding selected authentication measures and fees. If applicable to your course, please include the following Proctor U statement.]

The University of New Orleans partners with Proctor U, a live, online proctoring service that allows students to complete exams from any location using a computer, webcam, and reliable internet connection.
